Challenges

Albaraka faced significant obstacles in managing file access across departments, which impacted productivity, security, and compliance. The primary challenges included:

Complex Authorization Processes: Manually managing file access requests and permissions for employees moving between departments was cumbersome and left room for errors, potentially risking unauthorized access.

Storage Quota Limitations: The previous system imposed restrictive file storage quotas, limiting flexibility for users in collaborative public folders.

Manual IT Workload: IT was responsible for tasks like updating file permissions during departmental changes or employee exits, which reduced their capacity to focus on more strategic initiatives.

Solution and Benefits

FileOrbis provided an automated, secure file management solution tailored to Albaraka's needs:

- 1 Automated Access Management: FileOrbis automated authorization assignments based on employee roles and departmental movements, freeing IT from repetitive, manual tasks.
- 2 Unlimited Public Folder Access: The removal of quota restrictions on public folders enabled more flexible collaboration across teams, enhancing productivity.
- 3 Self-Managed Sharing Controls: FileOrbis introduced user-friendly features that allowed employees to set file-sharing parameters, such as access level, sharing duration, and password protection, providing a higher level of security and flexibility.

Benefits

- 1 Operational Efficiency: File management was transferred from IT to the respective business units, allowing IT to focus on strategic projects and value-added tasks.
- 2 Improved Data Security: Users can securely share files across departments with controlled access, reducing the risk of unauthorized data exposure.
